

Battle Bonfire 2013
For immediate release

Since the last minute changes that were made to our bonfire celebrations in 2012 we have been actively searching for a suitable large site to hold our bonfire. Unfortunately we have not been successful and therefore will once again be holding an event which is on a much smaller scale.

The celebrations will be similar in nature to 2012 with a procession along our normal route and finishing on the Abbey Green with our token bonfire.

There will once again be no large dedicated public viewing area and we would discourage spectators from trying to view the procession from the area surrounding the Abbey Green. This will be marked as the "red zone" on our safety leaflet. The Abbey Green itself will be surrounded by a barrier and there is no public access.

Battle Bonfire is a traditional event and is therefore is not suitable for young children or those of a nervous disposition.

We thank you for your cooperation and would kindly remind residents that our road closure will operate from 6pm – midnight. Please note there is strictly no parking along the procession route.

If there are any further updates these will be advertised on our twitter feed, which is @battlebonfire
